

Leadership class attracts 20

From Staff Reports

Twenty people have been selected to participate in the fifth Leadership Council Bluffs class.

Linda J. Primmer, chairman of the membership selection committee, said this year's group of nominees and candidates was both impressive and interesting.

"It's exciting to continue seeing so many highly qualified Council Bluffs leaders being recommended and involved after four years of this program," Primmer said.

Leadership Council Bluffs is a project of the Council Bluffs Chamber of Commerce, designed to sharpen leadership skills.

Primmer said Leadership Council Bluffs participants will meet monthly. The opening session will be a Sept. 11-12 retreat at Iowa Western Community College.

Activities include a trip to Des Moines to meet local legislators. Graduation will be in May.

Participants are:

- Diane Carlon, coordinator, institutional development, Iowa Western Community College,
- Barbara Chernik, director, public library,
- Douglas Dick, president, Le-Mail/AAD Division, Travis Industries,
- Joe Hansen, operations director, Lewis Central Community Schools,
- Bob Jordan, spiritual life coordinator, Children's Square U.S.A.,
- James B. Lake, principal, Abraham Lincoln High School,
- Barbara Lindsley, superintendent's secretary, Iowa School for the Deaf,
- Clayton Lindstrom, manager, electric systems, Midwest
